

Disclaimer & Privacy Policy

The terms and conditions of this disclaimer shall apply to all websites of Casala Ltd, trading as Casala. By visiting such websites and/or make use of the information available thereon you shall agree to the applicable conditions of this disclaimer.

Use of our websites

The information on this website shall exclusively serve as general information. No rights may be derived from this website. Although Casala exercises due diligence in the composition and maintenance of this website and in that endeavour makes use of sources deemed to be reliable, Casala cannot guarantee the accuracy, completeness or timeliness of the information provided. Casala shall not be liable for the content of this website or for any documents and/or websites linked to or referred to by the website. Nor can Casala guarantee that the website operates uninterrupted or without fault.

Use of information

Casala shall retain all intellectual property rights and other rights pertaining to all information made available on or by way of this website (including all text, images and logos). The information on this website may not be duplicated, downloaded or be made public in any way, nor may it be distributed or reproduced without prior permission in writing to such end from Casala or the legal permission of the owner. The information on this website may be printed and/or downloaded for personal use.

Changes

Casala shall at all times and without any prior notification thereof be entitled to make changes to the information available on or by way of this website, including the text of this disclaimer. Users are recommended to verify from time to time the accuracy of the information available on or by way of this website, including the text of the disclaimer.

Privacy

Any personal details entered into this website by users shall be used for the purposes of their submission.

Use of personal data

Personal data of users shall be issued to both the website owner and Casala. Such data shall not be passed on to third parties without express prior permission from users, unless Casala is required to do so on the basis of the law or a court ruling. In addition, Casala shall use users' personal data to improve service provision to its customers and to inform customers about relevant products and services. Should you object to such use, then please notify Casala. Users may send an email to info@casala.com, after which their personal details shall be removed from the database forthwith.

Cookies

Casala's website uses cookies and other applications designed to maximise the user-friendliness of the website for customers and to monitor how the website is used, allowing the company to improve the quality of its services. A cookie is a simple, small file that is sent to users' devices along with the website pages and is saved on the hard disc of the device by the internet browser. The information stored therein may subsequently be resent to our servers at a next visit. Users may opt to change the settings of their browsers to block cookies. Should the foregoing be the case, Casala cannot guarantee the full functionality and services of and on our website.